ALBANIA, MEXICO, CUBA AND EGYPT REQUESTED TO JOIN SESSIONS ON ITALIAN TREATY

(By Associated Press)
PARIS, Aug. 12.—The Peace conference voted unanimously today to invite Albania, Mexico, Cuba and Egypt to appear for hearings on the Italian treaty.

The vote came after long discussion on the technical question of which department of the 21-nation conference should draw up rules governing the hearings.

The question of inviting the four nations to appear drew no objection from the floor, but hours were spent in discussing whether the general secretariat or the general commission of the conference should arrange details for the hearings.

Technically Debated
A group of six nations, with Soviet Delegate A. V. Vishinsky as their spokesman, opposed a British proposal to refer the problem to the general commission. This opposition was maintained even when an alternative proposal was offered by British Delegate A. V. Alexander that the matter should go to the general commission only in the event of a disagreement in the general secretariat.

Although the simple invitation was accorded a unanimous vote, a roll call vote of 15 to 3, with three abstentions—Czechoslovakia, Ukraine and Yugoslavia approved the proposal in its entirety.

Russia, Poland and Byelorussia opposed it.
The conference then quickly elected French Delegate Jacques Fournol Du Pote secretary-general of the conference, a position he has been holding in a temporary capacity.

It was then decided that the conference's general secretariat should consist of eight members, four of whom would represent the United States, Great Britain, Russia and France.

Debate on the invitations to Albania, Cuba, Egypt and Mexico was opened this morning by H. V. Evatt, of Australia, who took the position that "from a juridical point of view it is essential that Albania should be heard." The proposal to invite Albania, presented by Yugoslav Delegate, was bitterly opposed last week by Greece.

TWO SHIPS IN HAIFA HARBOR AROUSE FEARS

British Threaten To Move 3,900 Immigrant Jews To Detention Camp

(By Associated Press)
JERUSALEM, Aug. 12.—Two more immigrant ships crowded with Jewish refugees anchored just outside Haifa harbor today, adding an explosive pressure to the Palestine situation already tense with reports of a pending British blockade.

Arrival of the two ships brought to 3,500, by Jewish estimate, the number of Jewish refugees aboard ship at Haifa or enroute who may not be allowed to land because they are without immigration certificates.

Many Jews have predicted bloodshed if the immigrants are not allowed to land.

Fear Re-Shipment

Jewish circles said they believed the British intended to load the newcomers on two British troop transports, standing by in the barricaded and heavily guarded harbor, and take them away, possibly to a prepared detention camp on the island of Cyprus in the Eastern Mediterranean.

One of the troop ships, said a Jewish agency spokesman, arrived yesterday with the captain's quarters enclosed in barbed wire, indicating the officers were prepared to fence themselves in event of emergency.

London dispatches said Britain is expected to announce tonight its immediate Palestine program.

Other developments in tense Palestine included a recess until tomorrow in the trial by a military court of 22 young Jewish men and women, members of the Stern gang, underground organization, on charges of attacking the Haifa railway shops on June 17.

Arrival of the two vessels brought to almost 2,700 the number of Jewish refugees detained aboard ships at Haifa because of lack of proper immigration certificates.

Another Ship Due

Still another vessel loaded with illegal immigrants was reported enroute to Haifa under escort of a British destroyer.

The newest arrivals were identified as the Yagur, carrying 700 refugees, and the Henrietta Szold, a one-masted sailing craft loaded down with 500 passengers—half of them children, and 30 of these babies in arms.

Palestine seethed with unrest and so tense was the atmosphere that many observers—including soldiers and civilians, Jews and Arabs—expressed fear that "the balloon is likely to burst at any time."

Adding to the uneasy air was the fact that 24 members of the so-called "Stern gang" were scheduled to go to trial before a military court in Haifa this morning on charges of participating in a raid on the Haifa railway shops on June 17. Nine members of the underground organization were killed in the raid.

Jerusalem resembled an armed camp. Additional military guards were placed around government buildings and new barbed wire barricades were thrown up at strategic points.

Stolen Car Thought Link In Bock Murder

The murder of Geraldine Eliza Bock was in the news again today, when Columbiana County officials tried to connect a stolen car, found near the Bandy road murder scene, with the crime.

The car stolen from Erie, Pa., was reported recovered by Mahoning county officials, who notified Sheriff George Hayes.

The car was left alone, but kept under surveillance for two days, after which it was towed away. No one went near it during the time the officers were watching.

Sheriff Hayes checked all clues found in the car, but could discover nothing that might lead to a tip up with the Bock case.

Some clothes were found in the car, but they did not fit the description of those worn by the suspicious man seen shortly after the Bandy road murder. Mrs. Bock was killed July 16.

Just To Be Sure 200th Check On Buried Man Made

SUTTON, England, Aug. 12.—When they buried James Gibson, a London merchant, 200 years ago body-snatchers were numerous and active in England and his daughter feared her father's remains would be taken.

To prevent this she set up a fund for an annual inspection of the tomb to determine that the bones remained unmolested, with a robed choir boy carrying the key to the tomb on a velvet cushion while church officials peered and prayed. They looked in Gibson's tomb again today. He was still there.

Railroad Track Improvement Open Section Near Garfield In Use, Allowing Trains Faster Speed There

A Pittsburgh-to-Cleveland flyer of the Pennsylvania railroad was the first train to pass over the road's new curve elimination section at Garfield, six miles west of here.

The new track was thrown open at 10 a. m. today. Several division officials were on the flyer, although no official ceremonies were held.

Work on the new fill-in has been going on since 1937, except during the war years. The operation used hundreds of thousands of cubic yards of fill. Construction was started last Oct. on the roadbed, highway underpass and the new tracks.

The purpose of the new section is to eliminate two sharp curves which forced fast trains to reduce their speed as much as 20 miles an hour. The section is 700 feet wide at some spots. The concrete underpass eliminates the Damascus-Newton Falls road crossing on Route 534. However, it will not be opened to traffic until late in the fall.

The new right-of-way is located mostly on the old Armstrong farm. The Garfield Methodist church was moved to a new location and four houses were torn down before construction was begun on the section.

Superintendent of Bible schools, Mrs. Ralph S. Coppock of Alliance; superintendent of temperance, Miss Gladys Hicks of Beloit; superintendent of peace, Paul Baxter of Sebring; superintendent of missions, Rev. Myrtle Hadley of Deerfield; superintendent of stewardship, Rev. Ethel Jackson of Bandy's Crossing; treasurer, Fred Chambers of Damascus.

Rev. Haworth preached a missionary sermon at the worship service Saturday morning, taking the place of Dr. Walter Williams of Damascus, who recently returned from China, and was unable to attend.

Rev. and Mrs. Sherman Brantingham of Winona were in charge of the music.

ACCOUNTANTS HOLD CLAMBAKE SATURDAY

More than 150 members and guests attended the National Association of Accountants' clam bake Saturday at the Salem Golf club. The day's entertainment consisted of golf, baseball, horse shoes and volleyball.

An entertainment program was staged in the evening by Don P. Freed, who was master of ceremonies. Appearing on the program were Adelaide and Estelle Koo, who played the accordion and drums, and Bill Ross, magician. Freed also sang two numbers and led the group in a community sing.

Fred Puttkamer was chairman of the clam bake committee.

Guests at the affair came from Warren, Girard, Youngstown, Sharon, New Castle, Elwood City, Hubbard and Cleveland.

POTTERY CITY WORKERS OPEN STRIKE TODAY

East Liverpool Officials Unable To Avoid Walkout

EAST LIVERPOOL, Aug. 12.—Workers in the municipal street, incinerator and water departments struck at 7 a. m. today, as the city's Victory week celebration opened.

Street department workers spent three hours before the deadline tidying up the city's appearance for the celebration, then took their trucks in.

A pump crew maintained enough water pressure in the mains to provide water for homes and public buildings, but not enough for industrial plants and other major installations.

Garbage collection was being limited to the two hospitals in the city.

A last minute city council caucus over the weekend failed to produce a settlement of the employees' demand for an 18 1/2 cent hourly wage boost.

The AFL union rejected council's 15 per cent offer as "entirely inadequate" and also turned down that body's appeal for a one-week postponement of the strike because of the victory celebration in honor of World War II veterans.

"We hoped to avert this, but council's unwillingness to meet our requests leaves us no other course," declared William Watkins, business agent of Local 677, American Federation of State, County and Municipal employees. The dispute affects 42 workers.

City council members drafted a letter to Mayor O. Earl Greenawald and Safety-Service Director Charles Kidd, urging them, as the board of control, "to see that the men stay on the job."

The letters reviewed council's offer of a 15 per cent wage increase, paid vacations, double time for most holiday work and upgrading of workers connecting water mains. Mayor Greenawald favored the raises.

The mayor said he was powerless to head off the walkout. Kidd previously announced his intention of resigning his $220-a-month post as soon as the dispute is settled.

Deniel Comsa, 421 Mill st., reported his car was struck by a hit-skip driver while parked at 361 S. Elsworth at 9:15 p. m. Sunday evening. The left rear fender of the car was damaged.

Another hit-skip accident occurred when a car belonging to Lee Barnes, 546 Franklin st., was struck at 8:25 p. m. Saturday while parked at Barnes' residence, damaging the right rear fender.

A truck, driven by A. T. Maxwell, 268 W. Pershing, struck and broke a concrete city light pole at the corner of W. State st. and Elm st. at 5:25 p. m. Sunday.

Cars driven by Seward Blythe, R. D. 4 Alliance, and John Davidson, 742 Franklin st., collided at 2:26 p. m. Sunday at the corner of the Georgetown road and W. State st.

Preparations Under Way To Revamp Firestone Farm As "Terminal" For Car Tour

COLUMBIANA, Aug. 12.—Preparations are being made at Firestone farms, east of here, the old home of Harvey S. Firestone, to afford suitable terminal facilities, as it did forty years ago, for the repetition just after the middle of the month of the famous Glidden automobile tours.

Old jalopies of four decades ago will roll again, 100 antiquities of the 1905 period having been registered for this repetition of tours made when there were some stretches of hard-surface highway, and many stretches unimproved.

Firestone farms was the terminus of all the Glidden tours of that period. Mr. Firestone always had a big feed prepared by the ladies of Grace Evangelical and Reformed church.

It was previously served in a large tent, and there were tents for the kitchen work and other purposes. Firestone farms will resemble a circus ground for this occasion, and the tourists will be regaled by the ladies of Grace church as they were at the end of such journeys forty years ago.

Preparations are being made for the event this year under the supervision of William Knuth, manager of Firestone farms. The ladies of the church are preparing to feed about 350, and on account of short-ages, have a problem on their hands.

The tourists are expected to leave Firestone farms about mid-afternoon for Youngstown, where they have hotel reservations for the night.

For the tours of forty years ago, Route 14 had not been established, and Park avenue in Columbiana, now part of Route 14, was not paved.

This repetition of the Glidden tour is sponsored by the Veteran Motor Car Club of America, and will begin with a three-day run from Albany, N. Y., to Buffalo, starting Aug. 18.

From Buffalo, cars and passengers will proceed by boat to Detroit, August 21 and 22 will be spent in Dearborn, site of Henry Ford's Greenfield village antique car museum.

From Detroit, the tourists will proceed by boat to Cleveland, where they will see the Thompson Products Co. museum of old cars. On Saturday, the 24th, the tourists will head for Columbiana.

Dinner was served at noon, in charge of Mrs. Betty Stark and Miss Gladys Berger. Tony Breih was in charge of a Wiener roast in the evening.

Dancing during the afternoon and evening was a feature, with music furnished by Chuck Wurster and his orchestra. Canfield. Contests for the children were held during the day, and Clarence Taylor of Winona and Mrs. Clarence Dickey of Salem won the door prizes.

The next meeting will be held Aug. 22.

MERCURY POISON USED IN MURDER

Arrest Indiana Woman After Poison Is Found In Exhumed Body

(By Associated Press)

MADISON, Ind., Aug. 12.—Jefferson county authorities today planned to exhume four more bodies after finding mercury poisoning in the viscera of a woman who died in 1945 while under the care of Mrs. Lottie (Tot) Lockman, 62-year-old housekeeper, who has been charged with murder.

Mrs. Lockman was arrested on the murder charges last night after State Toxicologist Dr. R. N. Harger reported finding the mercury in the remains of Mrs. Minnie McConnell. The woman had already been charged with attempting to murder a daughter-in-law of Mrs. McConnell, and had been free on bond.

Call Special Grand Jury

Prosecutor Donald Bear said today he would ask Circuit Judge Harry E. Nichols to impanel a grand jury some time this week to investigate the case. Mrs. Lockman has repeatedly denied any wrongdoing.

Coroner Sidney E. Haigh said that he planned to exhume the bodies of the following persons, all of whom had been under the care of Mrs. Lockman in the last years of their lives: "Uncle Fred" Giddings, a retired farmer who died at the age of 90; Mrs. Hattie Calhoun, a recluse, Frank Lockman, blacksmith husband of the housekeeper, and his brother, Wallace Lockman.

Giddings and the Lockmans are buried near the little town of Dupont, home of the principals in the case, and Mrs. Calhoun is buried at Burlington, Ia.

Coroner Haigh said the mercury found "was sufficient to warrant Mrs. Lockman's arrest."

Wearing a faded blue cotton dress, she was taken to Jefferson county jail.

Mrs. Lockman was arrested several days ago and charged with attempting to murder by poisoning Mrs. Mamie McConnell, wife of a hardware merchant at Dupont, 15 miles northwest of here.

Coroner Haigh ordered the body of Mrs. Minnie McConnell exhumed after Mrs. Mamie McConnell was found suffering from mercury poisoning. The younger Mrs. McConnell was reported to be recovering.

POTTERY CITY WORKERS OPEN STRIKE TODAY

East Liverpool Officials Unable To Avoid Walkout

EAST LIVERPOOL, Aug. 12.—Workers in the municipal street, incinerator and water departments struck at 7 a. m. today, as the city's Victory week celebration opened.

Street department workers spent three hours before the deadline tidying up the city's appearance for the celebration, then took their trucks in.

A pump crew maintained enough water pressure in the mains to provide water for homes and public buildings, but not enough for industrial plants and other major installations.

Garbage collection was being limited to the two hospitals in the city.

City council members drafted a letter to Mayor O. Earl Greenawald and Safety-Service Director Charles Kidd, urging them, as the board of control, "to see that the men stay on the job."

The letters reviewed council's offer of a 15 per cent wage increase, paid vacations, double time for most holiday work, and upgrading of workers connecting water mains. Mayor Greenawald favored the raises.

The mayor said he was powerless to head off the walkout. Kidd previously announced his intention of resigning his $220-a-month post as soon as the dispute is settled.

Preparations Under Way To Revamp Firestone Farm As "Terminal" For Car Tour

COLUMBIANA, Aug. 12.—Preparations are being made at Firestone farms, east of here, the old home of Harvey S. Firestone, to afford suitable terminal facilities, as it did forty years ago, for the repetition just after the middle of the month of the famous Glidden automobile tours.

Old jalopies of four decades ago will roll again, 100 antiques of the 1905 period having been registered for this repetition of tours made when there were some stretches of hard-surface highway, and many stretches unimproved.

Firestone farms was the terminus of all the Glidden tours of that period. Mr. Firestone always had a big feed prepared by the ladies of Grace Evangelical and Reformed church. It was previously served in a large tent, and there were tents for the kitchen work and other purposes.

Firestone farms will resemble a circus ground for this occasion, and the tourists will be regaled by the ladies of Grace church as they were at the end of such journeys forty years ago.

To Feed 350

Preparations are being made for the event this year under the supervision of William Knuth, manager of Firestone farms. The ladies of the church are preparing to feed about 350, and on account of shortages, have a problem on their hands.

The tourists are expected to leave Firestone farms about mid-afternoon for Youngstown, where they have hotel reservations for the night.

For the tours of forty years ago, Route 14 had not been established, and Park avenue in Columbiana, now part of Route 14, was not paved.

This repetition of the Glidden tour is sponsored by the Veterans Motor Car Club of America, and will begin with a three-day run from Albany, N. Y., to Buffalo, starting Aug. 18.

From Buffalo, cars and passengers will proceed by boat to Detroit, August 21 and 22 will be spent in Dearborn, site of Henry Ford's Greenfield village antique car museum.

From Detroit, the tourists will proceed by boat to Cleveland, where they will see the Thompson Products Co. museum of old cars. On Saturday, the 24th, the tourists will head for Columbiana.

Dinner was served at noon, in charge of Mrs. Betty Stark and Miss Gladys Berger. Tony Breith was in charge of a Wiener roast in the evening.

Dancing during the afternoon and evening was a feature, with music furnished by Chuck Wurster and his orchestra. Canfield. Contests for the children were held during the day, and Clarence Taylor of Winona and Mrs. Clarence Dickey of Salem won the door prizes.

The next meeting will be held Aug. 22.

Something Still To Be Explained

The apparent end of the Senate investigating committee's attempt to put Representative May of Kentucky on the stand to tell what he knows about the wartime activities of the Garson brothers leaves no one satisfied.

Representative May's illness, as certified by his physicians, isn't in question. What is in question is his refusal to appear before the Senate committee before he fell ill. There is something still to be explained that cannot be glossed over by the Kentucky congressman's physical inability to submit himself for questioning. Preceding his illness he showed a kind of mental reluctance that cast more discredit on his character than anything he might have said under oath. Most Americans hope Representative May recovers his health and his tongue in time to tell his part of a story that rightfully belongs to the public.

Drifting Into Nationalism

Admiral Moreell's announcement that there is little reason to hope for the immediate return to their owners of government-seized coal mines must make strange reading in Great Britain, where nationalization of coal mines was made possible only by a popular swing to socialism.

The British, hip-deep in the problem of getting more coal out of their newly-nationalized mines, are supposed to be conducting an economic experiment of the first magnitude. But in the United States, where mines have been nationalized, in effect, by circumstances, there is no thought of experimenting. Admiral Moreell, as government administrator, and Secretary of Interior Krug, as the cabinet official responsible for coal-mine operations, both insist they are anxious to return the mines to private control. Even though production is at an all-time peak, there is no claim that this is due to government operation. Even John L. Lewis, head of United Mine Workers, who has learned how to collect what he wants from the government in collective bargaining without bargaining, is not agitating for permanent nationalization.

The obvious danger is that nationalization of coal mines might be brought about in this country by circumstances, rather than public policy.

Fleet Maneuvers Off Palestine

The British government, having had much experience in such matters, cannot believe its announcement of a summer cruise of its Mediterranean fleet off Palestine will settle the problem in that unhappy land. At best, a naval blockade can do no more than prevent further immigration of Jewish refugees from making the problem worse—in Palestine.

Elsewhere, the British action to prevent immigration into Palestine may add to the complications which are trying the patience and wisdom of the Allies in Europe. Jewish refugees heretofore have had a potential refuge in Palestine. Hereafter, they will not even have that.

Britain will be criticized—and worse—for this decision to use force to freeze the status quo in Palestine. Much of the criticism, unjustly, will overlook the fact that Palestine is more than a refuge for Jews. It also is the home of an Arab population whose position must be recognized by the British under their mandate. A naval blockade will not help the Arabs either—but in its present dilemma the British cannot be concerned with helping either side. Their objective now is to keep the tension in Palestine from growing worse, until something turns up to make it grow better.

New Wage Precedent

The apparent effect of a ruling by the federal conversion director, John R. Steelman, that wage increases beyond the present pattern do not justify price increases is to freeze wages and prices where they are now, except in cases where inequity can be shown.

But it is too soon to believe that the government can short-circuit a second round of wage-price boosting by announcing a precedent that seems to militate against it. The way this sort of thing has been done in the past is to force the government to a showdown, break the precedent and set a new one.

While there seems to be no reason why any employer wanting to raise wages above the stabilization formula without asking for price relief couldn't do so, most wage agreements with labor now are geared directly to price agreements with government. For instance, if United Mine Workers were to call a strike to shatter the new ruling, and the government were to make a contract with the union at some new and higher figure, price increases in coal surely would follow—and there would be a new precedent. Or the showdown might come in steel, or automobiles. In the rough-and-tumble of union leadership, the leader who can force the government to break a precedent is an expert at his trade.

Mr. Steelman, it may be, has thrown up a clay pigeon to be shot down, if any considerable number of union leaders decide to go after higher wage rates. Higher prices would follow inevitably, with or without government sanction. Eight months ago the government was saying that the wage rates it was helping to boost then wouldn't bring higher prices either.

Obfuscate At Your Risk

In a minor flurry of partisan stone-throwing at the close of last week, the chief executive of the United States, speaking as head of the coalition known as the Democratic party, accused a Republican spokesman of "obfuscation." He meant that the Republican had been muddling the issue, which happened to be the handling of federal finances.

Obfuscation is standard practice in politics and a

the word has been dragged out of the dictionary at this particular time is because a congressional election is coming. It is time to begin obfuscating.

From now on until election day next November a great many patriots will devote all their time to muddling the issues. Some of them will do it unintentionally. Others will work at it professionally. Here and there a patriot will refuse to obfuscate and the people will look at him in amazement.

This curious exception to the rule that obfuscation fools people and wins votes will say exactly what he thinks. He will not trim, temper, fence or tamper with his personal convictions. If he believes in free enterprise and a maximum of individual freedom, he will not butter the New Dealers or try to play footsie with the P.A.C. If he despises free enterprise and thinks statism is preferable to individualism, he will not pretend that he is just a folksy American boy with cheek of tan.

We don't expect many of these square-shooters, or non-obfuscators, to turn up, but there will be a few—and heaven help them, because as P. T. Barnum is supposed to have said, "The people like to be obfuscated."

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Help For Failure of Heart

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

EVERY doctor knows the sense of doom which heart failure brings with it. The whole family is affected with an atmosphere of helplessness and fear pervades the household. The patient is the most apprehensive of all, and is in great distress.

He must usually sit up because he is unable to breathe lying down. He pants as if he had just finished a stiff run; the veins in his neck are distended; his heart beats with a racing but irregular rhythm.

Other symptoms are swelling of the feet and legs, wheezing and, sometimes, a noisy sort of breathing due to rales (raahs), which occur because of a collection of fluid in the air passages in the lungs. This is the condition which results when the heart becomes so damaged or overworked that it cannot keep up the circulation of the blood.

May Come Suddenly

It is known as cardiac decompensation and it may come on suddenly. If it does, the situation is serious, but there is much that the experienced doctor can do to help the patient, to renew his confidence and to allay the fears of his family.

According to Dr. Arnold S. Anderson of Florida such a patient should be sent immediately to a hospital, if possible. It is also well to give an injection of morphine, which will rest the heart and produce sleep. In most cases, the giving of oxygen is also helpful. The drug which has been found most useful in these cases of heart failure is digitalis. This preparation slows and strengthens the heart beat.

Treatment Depends

Of course, the exact treatment will depend upon the exact condition present. If there is a great deal of fluid in the lungs, if the blood pressure is excessively high, if the liver is swollen and there is blueness of the skin, called cyanosis, due to lack of oxygen brought to the tissues, sometimes removal of blood from a vein might be helpful.

After the patient has had a good night's sleep, sometimes certain drugs containing mercury are given, together with ammonium chloride to stimulate the action of the kidneys and to eliminate excess fluid from the tissues.

Of course, the digitalis must be carefully given under the doctor's directions so that the dose can be regulated depending on the patient's condition. Obviously, the patient must be kept at rest in bed until the condition of the heart improves and is again able to support the circulation.

Remember, heart failure is an emergency which calls for prompt treatment by the doctor. But it is an emergency which can often be avoided altogether by consulting the doctor before things reach such an acute stage.

Something Still To Be Explained

The apparent end of the Senate investigating committee's attempt to put Representative May of Kentucky on the stand to tell what he knows about the wartime activities of the Garson brothers leaves no one satisfied.

Representative May's illness, as certified by his physicians, isn't in question. What is in question is his refusal to appear before the Senate committee before he fell ill. There is something still to be explained that cannot be glossed over by the Kentucky congressman's physical inability to submit himself for questioning. Preceding his illness he showed a kind of mental reluctance that cast more discredit on his character than anything he might have said under oath. Most Americans hope Representative May recovers his health and his tongue in time to tell his part of a story that rightfully belongs to the public.

Drifting Into Nationalism

Admiral Morell's announcement that there is little reason to hope for the immediate return to their owners of government-seized coal mines must make strange reading in Great Britain, where nationalization of coal mines was made possible only by a popular swing to socialism.

The British, hip-deep in the problem of getting more coal out of their newly-nationalized mines, are supposed to be conducting an economic experiment of the first magnitude. But in the United States, where mines have been nationalized, in effect, by circumstances, there is no thought of experimenting. Admiral Morell, as government administrator, and Secretary of Interior Krug, as the cabinet official responsible for coal-mine operations, both insist they are anxious to return the mines to private control. Even though production is at an all-time peak, there is no claim that this is due to government operation. Even John L. Lewis, head of United Mine Workers, who has learned how to collect what he wants from the government in collective bargaining without bargaining, is not agitating for permanent nationalization.

The obvious danger is that nationalization of coal mines might be brought about in this country by circumstances, rather than public policy.

Fleet Maneuvers Off Palestine

The British government, having had much experience in such matters, cannot believe its announcement of a summer cruise of its Mediterranean fleet off Palestine will settle the problem in that unhappy land. At best, a naval blockade can do no more than prevent further immigration of Jewish refugees from making the problem worse—in Palestine.

Elsewhere, the British action to prevent immigration into Palestine may add to the complications which are trying the patience and wisdom of the Allies in Europe. Jewish refugees heretofore have had a potential refuge in Palestine. Hereafter, they will not even have that.

Britain will be criticized—and worse—for this decision to use force to freeze the status quo in Palestine. Much of the criticism, unjustly, will overlook the fact that Palestine is more than a refuge for Jews. It also is the home of an Arab population whose position must be recognized by the British under their mandate. A naval blockade will not help the Arabs either—but in its present dilemma the British cannot be concerned with helping either side. Their objective now is to keep the tension in Palestine from growing worse, until something turns up to make it grow better.

New Wage Precedent

The apparent effect of a ruling by the federal re-conversion director, John R. Steelman, that wage increases beyond the present pattern do not justify price increases is to freeze wages and prices where they are now, except in cases where inequity can be shown.

But it is too soon to believe that the government can short-circuit a second round of wage-price boosting by announcing a precedent that seems to militate against it. The way this sort of thing has been done in the past is to force the government to a showdown, break the precedent and set a new one.

While there seems to be no reason why any employer wanting to raise wages above the stabilization formula without asking for price relief couldn't do so, most wage agreements with labor now are geared directly to price agreements with government. For instance, if United Mine Workers were to call a strike to shatter the new ruling, and the government were to make a contract with the union at some new and higher figure, price increases in coal surely would follow—and there would be a new precedent. Or the showdown might come in steel, or automobiles. In the rough-and-tumble of union leadership, the leader who can force the government to break a precedent is an expert at his trade.

Mr. Steelman, it may be, has thrown up a clay pigeon to be shot down, to go after higher wage rates. Higher prices would follow inevitably, with or without government sanction. Eight months ago the government was saying that the wage rates it was helping to boost then wouldn't bring higher prices either.

Obfuscate At Your Risk

In a minor flurry of partisan stone-throwing at the close of last week, the chief executive of the United States, speaking as head of the coalition known as the Democratic party, accused a Republican spokesman of "obfuscation." He meant that the Republican had been muddling the issue, which happened to be the handling of federal finances.

Obfuscation is standard practice in politics and a

the word has been dragged out of the dictionary at this particular time is because a congressional election is coming. It is time to begin obfuscating.

From now on until election day next November a great many patriots will devote all their time to muddling the issues. Some of them will do it unintentionally. Others will work at it professionally. Here and there a patriot will refuse to obfuscate and the people will look at him in amazement.

This curious exception to the rule that obfuscation fools people and wins votes will say exactly what he thinks. He will not trim, temper, tease or tamper with his personal convictions. If he believes in free enterprise and a maximum of individual freedom, he will not butter the New Dealers or try to play footsie with the P.A.C. If he despises free enterprise and thinks statism is preferable to individualism, he will not pretend that he is just a folksy American boy with cheek of tan.

We don't expect many of these square-shooters, or non-obfuscators, to turn up, but there will be a few—and heaven help them, because as P. T. Barnum is supposed to have said, "The people like to be obfuscated."

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Help For Failure of Heart

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

EVERY doctor knows the sense of doom which heart failure brings with it. The whole family is affected with an atmosphere of helplessness and fear pervades the household. The patient is the most apprehensive of all, and is in great distress.

He must usually sit up because he is unable to breathe lying down. He pants as if he had just finished a stiff run; the veins in his neck are distended; his heart beats with a racing but irregular rhythm.

Other symptoms are swelling of the feet and legs, wheezing and, sometimes, a noisy sort of breathing due to rales (rahis), which occur because of a collection of fluid in the air passages in the lungs. This is the condition which results when the heart becomes so damaged or overworked that it cannot keep up the circulation of the blood.

May Come Suddenly

It is known as cardiac decompensation and it may come on suddenly. If it does, the situation is serious, but there is much that the experienced doctor can do to help the patient, to renew his confidence and to allay the fears of his family.

According to Dr. Arnold S. Anderson of Florida such a patient should be sent immediately to a hospital, if possible. It is also well to give an injection of morphine, which will rest the heart and produce sleep. In most cases, the giving of oxygen is also helpful. The drug which has been found most useful in these cases of heart failure is digitalis. This preparation slows and strengthens the heart beat.

Treatment Depends

Of course, the exact treatment will depend upon the exact condition present. If there is a great deal of fluid in the lungs, if the blood pressure is excessively high, if the liver is swollen and there is blue-ness of the skin, called cyanosis, due to lack of oxygen brought to the tissues, sometimes removal of blood from a vein might be helpful.

After the patient has had a good night's sleep, sometimes certain drugs containing mercury are given, together with ammonium chloride to stimulate the action of the kidneys and to eliminate excess fluid from the tissues.

Of course, the digitalis must be carefully given under the doctor's directions so that the dose can be regulated depending on the patient's condition. Obviously, the patient must be kept at rest in bed until the condition of the heart improves and is again able to support the circulation.

Remember, heart failure is an emergency which calls for prompt treatment by the doctor. But it is an emergency which can often be avoided altogether by consulting the doctor before things reach such an acute stage.

Household Hints

If we now have an opportunity before we owe that opportunity to make our influence felt in world affairs as it was never felt largely to the fact that most of the world is convinced we shall not misuse it for selfish advantage.

—Elmer Davis, former OWI director.

Try serving creamed left-over meats in baked potatoes or on mashed potatoes rather than in pastry shells or on toast. It's an ideal way to conserve flour and a tasty way of serving.

Linoleum cannot be waxed too often. The thicker the coat of wax you build up by repeated waxing, the more protection you give the floor covering.

Large Throng Witnesses Jaycee Field Day Double-Header

Jaycee All-Stars Blow One To Taylorcraft Sunday 7-6

Succumbing to an attack of home runs, bunts and bonhead playing, the Salem Jaycee All-Stars went down to defeat, 7-6, before a strong Alliance Taylorcraft nine Sunday at Centennial park. The game was played as a part of the Youth Week Field day celebration.

In the curtain-raiser, the Jayteen All-Stars fared much better as they pounded two Columbian hurlers for 12 hits, winning handily, 12-3.

The local nine went into the ninth inning trailing by one run. They rapped out three base hits in that ninth inning, but failed to score the all-important run.

Bob "Buck" Ritchie led off with a sharp single to right field, but when he tried to make it all the way to third on Lloyd Brunner's bunt, was nailed by the hot corner guard.

The next batter fanned, but Sal Guappone punched out a single to send Brunner to third.

On the next play, with George Pergman at the plate, trying for his fourth hit of the game, the locals tried to work a double steal, or at least draw a throw to second base. However, Brunner allowed himself to be sucked in toward home plate too far and was an easy mark for the throw in to the catcher, so ending the game.

It was Brunner's second contribution to the Alliance cause. In the first inning he had charged blindly into Mike Guappone, who was about to field a pop fly in front of the plate and allowed the batter to reach first and make the visitors a present of a very important run.

Alliance took an early lead in the first and padded it in the fourth and fifth on home runs by Allen and Lionel Grimes, the latter being a tremendous poke far over Eddie Bosick's head.

The winner's four other runs came in the eighth on three straight bunts, which went for singles, and another single by the same Lionel Grimes.

Salem picked up two tallies in the sixth when Bosick stretched his hit to a double on a nice slide. Brunner got on base on an error and Sal Guappone and Bergman singled.

They also got four runs in the big eighth inning, which featured hits by Fred "Lefty" Schmid and Guappone and Bergman again, aided by two walks and two errors.

John McQuiston pitched a good game, allowing nine hits as compared to Salem's 12 off two Alliance moundmen. He walked none and fanned five. The two Alliance pitchers, Hulsman and Akins, walked two and fanned five.

A huge crowd, for local softball, witnessed the games.

The first game was a bit more cheerful for Salem fans as the Jayteen squad, composed of Class B players, had no trouble in winning their game over Columbian.

They grabbed off-four runs in the initial canto on Tom Miner's home run after two walks and a single had set the stage. They scored at will throughout the game while Aubrey "Pete" Cain held the losers to eight scattered hits.

Cain fanned five men and had perfect control.

The leading hitters for Salem were Moe Hollinger, Tony Martinelli and Miner, each notching a pair of bingles. Dick Jones had an impor-

Alliance Team Wins Over Salem A. C. 7-6

A three run rally in the seventh was too much for the Salem A. C. to overcome and they went to defeat at the hands of the Transue-Williams club of Alliance Sunday at the Armory field in Alliance.

Salem out-hit their rivals nine to five and both sides committed three errors. W. Turner and Wayne Hahn each had two safeties for the A. C.

Twirler Hampton, the loser, fanned eight and walked seven, while Haidet, on the hill for Alliance, whiffed five and walked only three.

NORTH-SOUTH SCHOLASTIC STARS PREPPING FOR GAME IN TOLEDO FRIDAY NIGHT

TOLEDO, Aug. 12.—Forty-eight of Ohio's standout schoolboy talents assembled at Waite High School here Friday to take part in the first annual Ohio High School coaching clinic and all-star game.

Athletic director Jack Mollenkopf met with the gridders and outlined plans for the seven-day program which will be concluded with the all-Ohio clash between the "North" and "South" squad in Waite stadium Friday night.

Trainers Wayne Rudy of Waite and Al Sawdy of Bowling Green State university pronounced all of the athletes in tip-top physical shape following an examination.

Mollenkopf then addressed the group in the gymnasium and a luncheon followed at noon. Coaches Luther Hanshue of Newark, O., and D. W. (Eke) Trubey of Elyria, were named to chaperon the two teams during their stay at Fort Meigs Hotel.

In the afternoon the teams, loaded with giant gridiron performers, in purple and white uniforms, put in a light workout and posed for local newspaper pictures.

The gridders, 24 on each squad, resembled squads pleasing to the eye of any college coach. All graduates of 1945, the all-Stars are the choice pick of Ohio, many of whom gained berths on all-state teams selected by wide services throughout Ohio.

Nationally famous college coaches take over the two teams today to start the coaching school which will be attended by approximately 225 footballmen from all over the country, as far as Saskatchewan and California.

The Ohio High School Coaches' association is cooperating with Waite in staging the mammoth scholastic spectacle.

Paul Bixler and his Ohio State university staff will take the husky "North" squad into tomorrow morning while Notre Dame's Frank Leahy and his assistants work with the "South" team.

The opening day's schedule called for the introduction of the staffs to the coaching school, lectures by Bixler, Leahy and staff, morning and afternoon field workouts.

"North" representatives reporting included Tom Anderson, St. Mary's Memorial; Bruce Beatty, Canton Lincoln; Art Bok, Toledo Central Catholic; Jack Dawson, Toledo Waite; Bill Hoganson, Niles McKinley; Jack Houser, Upper Sandusky; Charles Huwer, St. Mary's Memorial; Norman Jackson, Canton Lehman; Clinton Knitz, Toledo Waite; Bob Lally, Cleveland Cathedral Latin.

Pat Mancuso, Leontonia; Dan Modak, Campbell Memorial; Jack North, Cleveland Shaw; Dick O'Hanlon, East Liverpool; Bob Robison, Toledo Scott; Max Rothschild, Toledo Libbey; Dick Schmittker, Sandusky; Charles Shannon, Defiance; Jim Showalter, Van Wert; Charles Sifer, Lima South; Dick Treece, Findlay; Bob Tucci, Canton McKinley; Ralph Wagner, Youngstown Rayen and Bert Webb, Massillon.

An overflow crowd of 13,000 is expected for the all-star game in the popular East Toledo stadium, which recently underwent improvements in lights, redecoration, etc., amounting to more than $16,000. Reserved seats will sell at $1.50 and general admission $1.25. Reservations will be accepted at the Waite athletic office by mail.

On the next play, with George Bergman at the plate, trying for his fourth hit of the game, the locals tried to work a double steal, or at least draw a throw to second base. However, Brunner allowed himself to be sucked in toward home plate too far and was an easy mark for the throw in to the catcher, so ending the game.

It was Brunner's second contribution to the Alliance cause. In the first inning he had charged blindly into Mike Guappone, who was about to field a pop fly in front of the plate and allowed the batter to reach first and make the visitors a present of a very important run.

Alliance took an early lead in the first and padded it in the fourth and fifth on home runs by Allen and Lionel Grimes, the latter being a tremendous poke far over Eddie Bosick's head.

The winner's four other runs came in the eighth on three straight bunts, which went for singles, and another single by the same Lionel Grimes.

Salem picked up two tallies in the sixth when Bosick stretched his hit to a double on a nice slide, Brunner got on base on an error and Sal Guappone and Bergman singled.

They also got four runs in the big eighth inning, which featured hits by Fred "Lefty" Schmid and Guappone and Bergman again, aided by two walks and two errors.

John McQuiston pitched a good game, allowing nine hits as compared to Salem's 12 off two Alliance moundmen. He walked none and fanned five. The two Alliance pitchers, Hulman and Akens, walked two and fanned five.

A huge crowd, for local softball, witnessed the games.

The first game was a bit more cheerful for Salem fans as the Jayteen squad, composed of Class B players, had no trouble in winning their game over Columbiana.

They grabbed off-four runs in the initial count on Tom Miner's home run after two walks and a single had set the stage. They scored at will throughout the game while Aubrey "Pete" Cain held the losers to eight scattered hits.

Cain fanned five men and had perfect control.

The leading hitters for Salem were Moe Hollinger, Tony Martinelli and Miner, each notching a pair of bingles. Dick Jones had an impor-

Alliance Team Wins Over Salem A. C. 7-6

A three run rally in the seventh was too much for the Salem A. C. to overcome and they went to defeat at the hands of the Transue-Williams club of Alliance Sunday at the Armory field in Alliance.

Salem out-hit their rivals nine to five and both sides committed three errors. W. Turner and Wayne Hahn each had two safeties for the A. C.

Twirler Hampton, the loser, fanned eight and walked seven, while Haldet, on the hill for Alliance, whiffed five and walked only three.

NORTH-SOUTH SCHOLASTIC STARS PREPPING FOR GAME IN TOLEDO FRIDAY NIGHT

TOLEDO, Aug. 12—Forty-eight of Ohio's standout schoolboy talent assembled at Waite High School here Friday to take part in the first annual Ohio High School coaching clinic and all-star game.

Athletic director Jack Mollenkopf met with the gridgers and outlined plans for the seven-day program which will be concluded with the all-Ohio clash between the "North" and "South" squad in Waite stadium Friday night.

Trainers Wayne Rudy of Waite and Al Sawdy of Bowling Green State university pronounced all of the athletes in tip-top physical shape following an examination.

Mollenkopf then addressed the group in the gymnasium and a luncheon followed at noon. Coaches Luther Hanshue of Newark, O. and D. W. (Ike) Trubey of Elyria, were named to chaperon the two teams during their stay at Fort Meigs Hotel.

In the afternoon the teams, loaded with giant gridiron performers, in purple and white uniforms, put in a light workout and posed for local newspaper pictures.

The gridgers, 24 on each squad, resembled squads pleasing to the eye of any college coach. All graduates of 1945, the all-Stars are the choice pick of Ohio, many of whom gained berths on all-state teams selected by wide services throughout Ohio.

Nationally famous college coaches take over the two teams today to start the coaching school which will be attended by approximately 225 footballmen from all over the country, as far as Saskatchewan and California.

The Ohio High School Coaches' association is cooperating with Waite in staging the mammoth scholastic spectacle.

Paul Bixler and his Ohio State university staff will take the husky "North" squad into tomorrow morning while Notre Dame's Frank Leahy and his assistants work with the "South" team.

The opening day's schedule called for the introduction of the staffs to the coaching school, lec-

Heinaman Pitches One Hitter Sunday

With Lefty Heinaman pitching superb one hit ball, the Altohouse Dodge nine swept a 7-0 victory from Warren's G. C. club Sunday at Lake Placencia.

Heinaman fanned seven of the Warrenites, while walking but two. He was aided by Gordy Scullion and Tisch, who notched two and three hits respectively.

The Altohouse squad, never in trouble, took a three run lead in the second inning, adding two each in the fifth and sixth.

Next week's game at Placencia will feature the Steinbridge All-Stars of the Akron Class A League.

Ruhr Splits the Big Powers

The vital Ruhr and Rhineland regions, heart of Germany's heavy industry, are again a top problem for the world powers. France wants the Ruhr and Rhineland internationalized, but as separate entities and under secure international control. Russia opposes detachment of either the Ruhr or the Rhineland. RUSSIAN DISPATCH CRITICIZES BYRNES

(By Associated Press)
 MOSCOW, Aug. 12.—The Russian press criticized Secretary of State Byrnes today and said the Peace conference should go ahead with its work even if this meant postponing the United Nations assembly meeting from Sept. 23 until the end of the year.

"This simple, logical way, however, apparently does not suit those who already are planning to postpone the Paris conference in order to play some new game behind the back of the conference," said a Tass dispatch from Paris.

Britain and the United States played a leading role in "hampering the main proposal of the council of foreign ministers on questions of procedure," the dispatch declared.

"The attitude of France also deserves scrutiny," the dispatch continued. The newspaper Pravda said an English-American bloc was trying to control the conference, using H. V. Evatt of Australia to make their speeches and maneuvers.

COAL TRAIN UPSET, DELAYS SCHEDULES

PORT CLINTON, Aug. 12.—Work crews today rushed repairs so New York Central railroad trains could roll again over track ripped up by the derailment, near Lacarne, of 28 coal-laden cars of a 110-car freight.

Five train crewmen escaped injury in the wreck which occurred at 3:30 a. m. yesterday and tore up nearly 2,000 feet of track as a car with a broken axle left the rails and dragged 27 other cars with it.

Hundreds of tons of spilled coal buried a few of the derailed cars and obstructed both east and west-bound tracks, making some trains as much as 10 hours late as railroad officials were forced to reroute them.

Quite a 'Shoe'

One of the largest truck tires ever built is this 27.00-33 earth-mover model, now in regular production. Over seven feet high, weighing 1482 pounds, it dwarfs Margaret Fields, office worker at the Goodyear plant in Akron, Ohio.
